BEYOND CONN
Work and Money

Spending Money
- The first few weeks, money disappears very quickly on expenses such as books, room decorations, snacks and movies.
- Textbooks can cost up to $600 a semester, depending on your courses (science and art history tend to be the priciest).
- The Bookshop in Cro sells new and used books, notebooks, and other supplies.
- At the end of the semester, you can sell your books back to the Bookshop for a percentage of the original price.
- You can rent your textbooks through the Bookshop at deeply discounted prices; visit www.rent-a-text.com to find out more.

Banking on Campus
- Many students find it convenient to have a checking account so they don’t have to keep cash around.
- Not from Connecticut? It may be easiest to open an account at a New London bank.
- Local bank representatives will be on campus on Arrival Day and during your first week to give information and open accounts. RBS Citizens Bank owns the ATM in Cro.
- MasterCard and Visa are accepted by the College bursar in the accounting office in Fanning Hall for payment of miscellaneous College bills (but not tuition bills).
- You can use CCPay to make online payments. Please contact the bursar with any questions. To make an online payment:
  1. Log into Self Service (from CamelWeb, use the Self Service tab).
  2. Select the Student tab and look for the CCPay menu option in the middle of the list.
  3. Click this menu option and you will be brought directly into CCPay.
  4. Select Make Payment from the menu options on the left.

Money and Your Camel Card
- Your Camel Card does much more than get you access into residence halls. It comes with $45 in Dining Dollars, for use at Oasis and other snack and coffee spots on campus. It also holds Camel Cash, money that can be used for laundry, vending, the Bookshop and other locations. Camel Cash can also be used when you run out of Dining Dollars.
Campus Jobs

- Students with and without Federal Work Study can apply for campus jobs with an application from the Financial Aid office in the Larrabee Annex (G3).
- Students working on or off campus MUST complete an Employment Eligibility Verification (EEV) form. Please refer to the listing on page 9 of the EEV for acceptable forms of ID for the financial aid office.
- You'll find jobs in administrative offices, the dining halls, library, music library, Post Office, theater, box office, Athletic Center and other areas.
- Many offices give hiring preference to work-study students.
- Divisions that hire non-work-study students include the theater department and the Offices of Communications and Advancement (both in Becker House).
- Arrange your work schedule after your academic schedule is set!

Job-Finding Tips

- Check CamelWeb periodically for the latest job postings.
- Check the bulletin board in the Financial Aid office, Larrabee Annex.

HINTS & TIPS:

If you are going to work on campus, you must bring your original, unexpired forms of identification, such as a passport and driver's license. Make sure they’re valid.
Off Campus

WHERE TO GO

Like most college towns, New London and the surrounding area offer a lot of the usual suspects for snacks, room essentials and supplies: Wal-Mart, Target, Home Depot, Stop & Shop, Bed Bath & Beyond and HomeGoods. But once you’ve got your Brita and your bed risers, there are a bunch of cooler, quirkier places to explore throughout the year — in New London and beyond.

New London

Fiddleheads Food Co-Op is your one-stop shop for local and organic groceries. Kamp Dog, next door, is a greasy spoon kinda place with short hours but amazing chili dogs. The Garde Arts Center hosts many impressive cultural events, including a Winter Film Festival and lots of concerts. Pop inside to take a look at the lobby and theater, a historic 1926 building with a Moroccan feel.

Northern Indian serves delicious and reasonably cheap Indian food from, you guessed it, the northern region of the country. Sweetie’s offers an impressive selection of grilled cheese sandwiches and panini, but don’t forget to save room for a whoopie pie or cupcake.

Looking for a cozy coffee shop to curl up with a latte and a good (text)book? Muddy Waters and Carmelo’s Bean & Leaf Cafe are essential. Muddy Waters feels like your grandmother’s living room, with couches and coffee tables and mouthwatering baked goods aplenty. Carmelo’s Bean & Leaf serves coffee and sandwiches during the day, then becomes an Italian restaurant at night.
To get a taste of all that downtown offers, don’t miss the annual Food Strolls!

Hungry for more than food? The Flavours of Life store offers fair-trade jewelry, clothing and handcrafted goods. The Hygienic Art Galleries and Art Park showcases the work of local artists and musicians at events throughout the year. The Salvation Army Thrift Store and the New London Antiques Center on Bank Street are under-the-radar gold mines for vintage clothing and other must-haves.

When it’s warm, be sure to check out Ocean Beach, then stop by Michael’s Dairy on Montauk Avenue on your way back to campus for huge scoops of ice cream.
FURTHER AFIELD

Being on the coast means there are beautiful beaches in most of the shoreline communities, including public beaches in Waterford and Niantic to the south and Groton to the north.

Just beyond Groton and only a 10-minute drive from campus is Mystic, a quintessential New England coastal town. Yes, you’ll still find the famous Mystic Pizza, but Pizzetta also has tasty pies. Stop by Bartleby’s or Green Marble Coffee for a caffeine fix before exploring many of the quaint shops on Main Street. Looking for an independent and locally owned bookstore? Bank Square Books can order anything and hosts great events, often with well-known authors.

More into used books? Seek out the Book Barn in Niantic. You could spend a day and a half in their several locations and see only a fraction of their books!

Further north on I-95 is Providence, Rhode Island. The city has two cultural attractions that should top your list: the Trinity Repertory Company (amazing plays) and Lupo’s Heartbreak Hotel (great live shows). Providence Place is a great shopping center, and the Italian food in the Federal Hill neighborhood is worth the drive.

Hartford, the state capital, is less than an hour from New London. Catch a play at Hartford Stage, go shopping at Westfarms Mall or Blue Back Square in West Hartford, or check out exhibits at the Mark Twain House or the Wadsworth Atheneum Museum of Art.

New Haven is about a 45-minute drive down I-95 South and boasts an impressive array of shops, restaurants and other cultural attractions, including (but certainly not limited to) Pepe’s Pizza, Toad’s Place, Urban Outfitters, IKEA and Yale Repertory Theatre.

HOW TO GET THERE

Bicycle
➤ The campus offers racks around campus for parking your bike.
➤ The library lets you check out bikes.
➤ Downtown New London is a quick 10-minute ride away.
Camel Van

- The Camel Van departs campus on the hour and half hour, providing service to downtown New London (and the station which serves Amtrak, Shore Line East and Greyhound), various malls, supermarkets and local attractions.
- In general, the Camel Van runs Thursday through Sunday, although the hours and days vary slightly each year.
- The Office of Student Engagement and Leadership Education (SELE) organizes the Camel Van service. Contact SELE for more information. You’ll get a complete schedule at Orientation!

Zipcar (car-sharing program)

- Join the program at www.zipcar.com/connecticutcollege. New students receive a discounted annual fee of $25 for the first year and score $35 in free driving. Zipcar’s offer is available over the summer and into the beginning of the first semester.
- Reservations include gas, insurance and 180 miles per day. Rental rates start at $8.50/hour or $69/day during the week and $9.50/hour or $77/day on the weekend.

Train & Bus

- The SEAT Bus, which serves the New London region, runs along Williams Street and stops next to campus, by the Arboretum gate. It’s a $1.50 fare and a quick ride to downtown New London. Head to www.seatbuslive.com for schedules.
- New London is served by train (Amtrak.com and ShoreLineEast.com) and bus (Greyhound.com) from Union Station downtown.
- Amtrak runs to Boston, Providence, New Haven, New York City, Philadelphia and Washington, D.C.
- Shore Line East runs to New Haven.
- If you’re heading to New York and aren’t in a rush, you can save a little money by taking the Shore Line East to New Haven and then switching to Metro North.
- Whether taking Amtrak or Greyhound, round-trip travel to any destination will cost far less if you book several weeks in advance.

Plane

- T.F. Green Airport, just south of Providence, is about an hour away from campus.
- Bradley International is north of Hartford, about 1 hour and 15 minutes from New London.
- Taxi service to these airports ranges from about $105 to $120.

The Flying Camel Airport Shuttle

- The shuttle is available around Thanksgiving and winter, spring and summer breaks, to and from New London Union Station and T.F. Green Airport.
- The College partners with a transportation company to offer students a discounted fare for shuttle transportation, billed to individual student accounts.
- SELE organizes this service and will provide students with pricing and reservation information before each academic break.
