

The Connecticut College Arboretum presents
2024 SALT Conference
“Smaller American Lawns Today!”

*To mow,
or not to mow:*

Creating your home meadow

Saturday, November 2 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Ecological garden experts provide insight into the benefits of ecologically-minded plantings over traditional lawns and practical lessons in the site selection, design, installation and maintenance of a home meadow.

Sessions & Speakers

Transforming a Burden into a Blessing: Turning Lawns into Meadows

Featuring Keynote Speaker
Owen Wormser (pictured right)
Abound Design and author of ‘Lawns to Meadows: Growing a Regenerative Landscape’

Designing Meadows and Naturalized Plantings for a Human Landscape

Kathy Connolly, Speaking of Landscapes
Landscape Design & Consulting

Kill your Lawn: Lawn Removal and Meadow Establishment Techniques

Dan Wilder,
Director of Applied Ecology at Norcross Wildlife Foundation

Meadow Maintenance

Victoria Wallace, UCONN Extension Service
CT State Extension Educator of Sustainable Landscapes

Follow QR code below for full session descriptions & speaker bios.

*Image credit:
Owen Wormser, Abound Design*

BEFORE

From this

TRANSFORM YOUR YARD

To this

*Image credit:
Owen Wormser,
Abound Design*

AFTER

Connecticut College students, non-profit representatives and/or emerging industry professionals may apply for a limited number of sponsored/discounted registrations by submitting a letter of interest to arbor@conncoll.edu expressing how their attendance to this conference will benefit their professional goals or ecological projects.

REGISTRATION: $70
CT College Arboretum Member discounted
registration: $60
Full-day conference includes lunch and AM coffee service.

Registration required.
Seating is limited.

270 Mohegan Avenue
New London, CT 06320

Scan the QR code full conference info
& registration link