Your Academic Journey: Put the World Together in New Ways

Conn students have stories to tell about how they personalize their academic journey, supported by an advising team, to articulate and explore a question of personal consequence—a touchstone they use to connect passion and possibility, classroom and career, local and global throughout their four years and beyond.
Evans Hall, Cummings Arts Center (D3)

10:15 – 11:05 a.m.

Arboretum Tour

The 750-acre Connecticut College Arboretum is managed as a living laboratory for environmental research and teaching. It also serves as a recreational resource for the campus community and the general public. Join Professor Glenn D. Dreyer, the Charles and Sarah P. Becker '27 Arboretum Director, for a tour of the 20-acre Native Plant Collection and to learn more about our role as stewards of the environment.

Career Preparation, Professional Development and Internships

Conn's career advisement program goes beyond expectations. Integrated with your first-year seminar, its continuation is organic, growing with you and helping you to translate your experience into a compelling narrative that opens doors to the next exciting chapter of your life. A central component of that narrative is the once-in-a-lifetime College-funded internship that every Conn student has the opportunity to create. Our students have stories to tell, and you'll want to hear them!

Class of 1941 Room, 2nd floor, College Center at Crozier-Williams (G2)

Crafting the Community that Shapes You: Balance, Trust and Fun

There's more to college than what you study. Learn from Conn students how our Honor Code and shared governance ethos create countless opportunities to broaden your perspective, get involved and have a great time. They'll share details about clubs, sports, organizations, service opportunities, leadership development, the extensive and varied campus arts scene, College traditions and more.

Cro's Nest, 2nd floor, College Center at Crozier-Williams (G2)

Expanding Your Worldview: Getting Firsthand Experience from the Local to the Global

How do you bring a global lens to the local—and vice versa? It's about learning to look at problems through multiple lenses to spot unexpected points of convergence. It's about stepping out of your comfort zone and applying what you learn to reconfigure and resolve issues that had seemed intractable. It's challenging and incredibly exciting, as you'll hear from our students reflecting on opportunities they've taken to study, engage in research and intern overseas.

Evans Hall, Cummings Arts Center (D3)

The Sciences: A Tour

Join members of the science faculty for a tour of our facilities that have been designed to foster collaboration, interdisciplinary work and inquiry-based learning. Tours will be offered by the departments of astronomy, behavioral neuroscience, biology, botany, chemistry, computer science, environmental studies, geophysics and physics, and will include New London Hall, a LEED Gold-certified, state-of-the-art science center; the observatories; and other facilities.

Tour departs from the front lobby on the ground floor of the Science Center at New London Hall (E3)

Campus Tour

Tour departs from Horizon House (D1)
