COMING TOGETHER TO PROCESS IDENTITIES AND EXPERIENCES

SCS is offering students four identity-focused therapy groups throughout the Spring 2021 semester that will explore, celebrate, affirm, and empower self and others related to aspects of identity.

- Coming Together to Process BIPOC Identities and Experiences: A group for students who identify as members of BIPOC and Multiracial Communities (Starting February 25)
- Coming Together to Process Racially Privileged Identities and Experiences: A group for students who identify as members of White communities (Starting February 25)
- Coming Together to Process LGBTQIA+ Identities and Experiences: A group for students who identify as members of LGBTQIA+ Communities (Starting March 4)
- Coming Together to Process Sexual Identity-Based Privileged Identities and Experiences: A group for students who identify as members of Cisgender, Heterosexual, and Allosexual communities (Starting March 4)

Groups will meet every other Thursday from 1:30 to 2:30pm starting on February 25 and March 4

Manifestations of bigotry related to aspects of identity including (and not limited to): race, sexual orientation, and gender have a deleterious psychological impact on its targets, its beneficiaries and society at large. SCS believes that students' psychological health and wellbeing may be supported through safe communal spaces that provide opportunity for dialogue about social identities and related experiences.

*Note: Participation in the Fall 2020 identity-focused series is NOT a prerequisite for participation in any of the Spring groups.

Contact scs@conncoll.edu with subject line "Coming Together" for more information and/or to register. Group facilitators will meet remotely with interested students prior to the start of the first group to complete a pre-group orientation.
